

M148 Addition to 11 Berkeley Terrace

Introduction

John Honeyman & Keppie's drawings submitted to the Glasgow Dean of Guild Court show a single-storey ground-floor studio addition for artist Archibald Kay. It was to be supported on stone piers and have a hipped roof, glazed in the N.-facing section. The addition was to be linked to the existing house by a corridor with a pitched roof, glazed along its E. elevation. Inside, the studio was to have open roof trusses, walls panelled to frieze-rail height and a large chimney piece on the E. wall.

Authorship: This is one of over 270 jobs carried out in the office of John Honeyman & Keppie (Honeyman, Keppie & Mackintosh from 1901) during Mackintosh's time there. Mackintosh undoubtedly worked on many of these, but there is no specific evidence for his involvement in this case.

Job Book

The job books of Honeyman & Keppie (later Honeyman, Keppie & Mackintosh) are now held by The Hunterian, University of Glasgow and include four volumes related to the Mackintosh period. The books were used by the firm to keep a project-by-project, day-by-day record of contractors, suppliers and expenditure. The name of a project and/or client is usually at the top of the left-hand page, followed by information about tradesmen who tendered. The name of the measurer (quantity surveyor) is usually at the top of the right-hand page, followed by information about payments to contractors and suppliers. All of the data for M148 is entered in the tables below.
